MANY SENATORS OPPOSE LEAGUE

Poll Shows Majority Will Insist Upon Amendments to League Covenant.

STATEMENT IS ISSUED

Senator Knox of Pennsylvania Declares New Draft Is More Objectionable in Some Ways Than

the Original Document. Washington, May 16.-Senator P. C. Knox, of Pennsylvania, sprung a surprise on administration senators who believed amendments made to the league of Nations covenant had allayed objections to that document.

In a formal statement, brief, but bristling in character, Senator Knox said the new covenant was more ob jectionable than the original document, He said it would be "suicidal" for the American government to enter into such an arrangement as proposed, and that the government of the United States had no right to delegate to the representatives of foreign powers such functions as are proposed in the new

BAKING POWDER "BEST BY TEST"

If you've not already been using Calumet, try it and you'll find a wonderful improvement in your cakes, a more satisfying goodness and finer texture than were ever possible with any other baking powder. A broad statement—but proven to be true whenever you use Calumet—it never fails.

Calumet is made in the world's largest, finest, most sanitary baking powder factory. Used by millions of housewives because it is economical and gives better and more satisfactory bakings.

Washington. - Memorial day in Washington is to be a memorial and a memorable day in one. Preparations are now being made for the impressive ceremonies of May 30. Arlington National cemetery, pos sibly the most beautiful burial ground of the world, is today in the colors of spring. There is nothing somber about Arlington except the thoughts which come to one as he threads his way through the paths which border the resting places of the fallen.

The color scheme of the place is beautiful. There is the purple of the wistaria, the pink and white of the dogwood, the subdued radiance of the redbud, the yellow of the dandelions, the white of the daisles, and the purple of the violets which there mingle with or glow beneath the coming green the ladies in charge believe another of the great tulip trees and the great-

Noble Oaks of Arlington. The great trees of Arlington have shaded generations of men. Some of them were growing when the son of dirigible headed up the coast, with Martha Washington built the great perfect weather conditions for the trip mansion still standing today, and which overlooks the Potomac river. COUNTRY NOT RIGHTLY NAMED Iceland by No Means the Barren Waste Which Appellation Would Seem to Imply.

Iceland suggests to many people a land of glacial coldness populated by fur-clad shivering natives, probably Eskimos. The real Icelander wears clothes no warmer than those needed in Canada. His winters are usually no more severe than those of Canada. The Icelander is not an Eskimo. He is a descendant of the fair-haired Vikings. Nothing excites an Icelander more than to have some one pleasantly ask him if it is ever warm in Ice land and if any flowers grow there. That Iceland is so misunderstood is entirely the fault of the Norse explor ers who landed on the island and felt obliged to name it. As it was a cold day and the land was frozen beneath a blanket of snow, they thoughtlessly called it Iceland and departed hastily. Had they first visited the island on a spring day, when the wind blew across the broad plains, they might have felt the vastness of the place and with equal carelessness called it Grentland. The name Iceland was officially adopted and instantly became the island's Summer in Iceland is warm, some times hot. In June the sun pours down upon the plains continuously save for a few minutes at midnight Another unicelandic phase of Iceland are the hot springs which spout up steaming water. To this hot water supply the women carry their washing as a matter of convenience.

Iceland is not a land of luxuriant vegetation or perfect climate. It is a fairly prosperous little country that struggles bravely against its handi-

Manager Lawrence Farrell Seeks More Talent for the B-G Team in Central Minnie League

(St. Cloud Journal-Press)

Manager Lawrence Farrell announces that the last chance for players to try for the R-G baseball team will be given at the regular practice next Friday evening at Athletic Park

Since the B-G aggregation will represent St. Cloud in the Central Minnesota League an especial effort is being made to secure the very best on Sunday afternoon, May 18, and talent available. Manager Farrell bers, telling that if the city is to cinched and that the best man trying for a position will get it, regardless of any other consideration

> The officcial opening of the Cen tral Minnesota League is set for May 30. In all probability, the locals will oppose Staples on that date. Manager Farrell is negotiating for a game before that time and may be able to get Annandale here.

> "Cy" Morton, who needs no intro duction to St. Cloud fans will be or the slab for the B-G's in the major portion of the games. For the past two years he has been twirling in Detroit, Michigan, while employed with the Ford factory. Baldwin i making as good a showing as ever the locals may be well fortified in that position.

Competition is keen for all of the other places, six outfielders trying for the garden positons.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractive-ness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning London, May 16.—Philip Scheidemann, German premier, has sent through the Berlin correspondent of
